

The 2020 ARRL/TAPR Digital Communications Conference will be virtual on September 11-12.

2020 ARRL/TAPR Virtual Digital Communications Conference (DCC)

On your laptop, tablet or smartphone September 11-12

The illustration shows a woman with long brown hair, wearing a purple top and light purple pants, sitting on a brown office chair at a desk. She is looking at a laptop screen that displays a video conference with four participants. On the desk, there is a green mug, a black mobile phone, and a small black device. To the left of the desk is a potted plant with green leaves. In the background, there is a window with green curtains and a utility pole. To the right of the woman, there are two logos: a yellow square logo with a blue stylized 'Y' shape and the letters 'TAPR' to its right, and a black diamond-shaped logo with the letters 'A', 'R', 'R', 'L' and a stylized 'L' at the bottom.

Details on how to participate are now available at <https://tapr.org/2020-arrrl-tapr-dcc-update/>

Normally, this 2½ day conference is held at locations around the country each September at a hotel with conference facilities. Because of COVID-19, this year's physical conference is being replaced with a virtual conference. This gives hams the opportunity to attend for only $30 and avoid the travel, hotel and meal costs. TAPR's web site explains how to register to be a Zoom attendee. It also tells how you can observe for free on Youtube. Such a deal!

You can also participate by writing a paper, by speaking (with or without submitting a paper), or doing a lightning talk (5 min. or less). Topics are all things ham digital – Digital Voice, HF digital, DSP, SDR, APRS, GPS, AX.25, and more. Papers submitted to the ARRL will be published in the conference proceedings. Submit papers via e-mail to Maty Weinberg, KB1EIB <kb1eib@arrl.org> by August 15, 2020.
